CS 4100, Spring 2023
Assignment 1
January 27, 2023

Starting now and for the rest of the semester you are to write on a computer for 10 minutes a day (a minimum of four days a week). Start a file in the following required format:

```
<File name>
<Your Name>
<Date Created>
<Purpose>

=======================
<entry number>, <Date>              ⬅--- These are mandatory
=======================
your ten minutes of writing..............

=======================
<entry number>, <Date>
=======================
your ten minutes of writing.............

=======================
<entry number>, <Date>
=======================
your ten minutes of writing.............

and so on.
```

You can write about anything you would like it this file. However, I recommend that you use this to reflect on your courses.

The writing must be in English and typed by you.

You should type (write) for at least 10 minutes without stopping, do not go back and correct spelling or punctuation. I will check (skim through) it a couple of times during the semester (possibly with minimal notice) to make sure that you are doing it, but I will not be reading the contents.

The goal of this assignment is to develop a habit of writing, which will help to record interesting thoughts and clarify your thinking.

Successful completion of this assignment is required to pass the course.