Write a C++ program as described in Programming Project #6, page 425 of Shiflet. Note that although calculations are done using floating point arithmetic, the results should be printed in the table as integers. Use for loops to control the layout of the table.

As usual, turn in both a program listing and a sample run.